

JOSEPH TYLER DAY GRIST MILL

CHADWICK MILL

A lovely 1 and $\frac{3}{4}$ acre parcel bought by BTA/BOLT, Inc. through a private donation, on 04/09/98. This parcel contains the remnants of a historic grist mill – part of the bulwark as well as one of the large mill stones remain in evidence. The water for this mill runs under Main Street through a culvert from Hovey's Pond and continues, becoming Alderbrook Brook and on to Johnson's Pond. Across the way are the protected Millpond fields, owned by the Town of Boxford, abutting restricted West 40 acres. This puzzle piece enabled protection of the frontage and prevented ease of development by adjoining parcels, one of which was eventually purchased by the Town of Boxford – 27 acres of Anvil Farm.

... sold to my Grandfather John Day the mill and mill lot and mill privilege. (see Essex Co. Dist. Book 1888, leaf 72). Grandfather died before he could rebuild the mill, and it came to my father John Albert Day and by him was willed to me. I do not know who owned the mill before Uncle Joshua but imagine one could trace it in the Salem Records. It was in this mill that Uncle Joshua's son John Tyler Day lost a leg - about Civil War time. I have understood that Uncle Joshua ground Crist and milled Flour.

"Father said there was a 25 foot fall of water -

"A few years ago there was a mill stone on the lot whether anyone has removed it since I don't know. Someone, I don't know who has cut a deep ditch through the mill lot and removed the stone work of the old mill.

"The mill has not been run since Uncle Joshua's death I think"

Mill privilege was sold to John T. Chadwick, Sr. by Miss Day in 1945.

JOSHUA TYLER DAY GRIST MILL

Sidney Perley says in his History of Boxford, page 289, that Joshua Tyler Day built the Grist Mill near his residence (now John T. Chadwick's) on the stream from Mitchell's Pond, just below Main Street (West Boxford) about 1844.

In the 1855 Valuation Book, the mill and privilege were assessed to Joshua T. Day for $1700. Perley says, "About 1852, some box machinery was inserted, and box boards were sawn out".

The following is an extract from a letter written by Miss Mary Day of Bradford, Mass., grandniece of Joshua T. Day, regarding the Grist Mill.

"The Old Grist Mill belonged to Joshua T. Day (my grandfather's brother) at the time of said Joshua's death in 1873. In 1875 Nathaniel Gage, administrator of Joshua T. Day's Estate sold to my Grandfather John Day the mill and mill lot and mill privilege. (see Essex So. Dist. Book 1058, leaf 73). Grandfather died before he could rebuild the mill, and it came to my father John Albert Day and by him was willed to me. I do not know who owned the mill before Uncle Joshua but imagine one could trace it in the Salem Records. It was in this mill that Uncle Joshua's son John Tyler Day lost a leg- about Civil War time. I have understood that Uncle Joshua ground Grist and milled Flour.

"Father said there was a 26 foot fall of water-

"A few years ago there was a mill stone on the lot whether anyone has removed it since I don't know. Someone, I don't know who has cut a deep ditch through the mill lot and removed the stone work of the old mill.

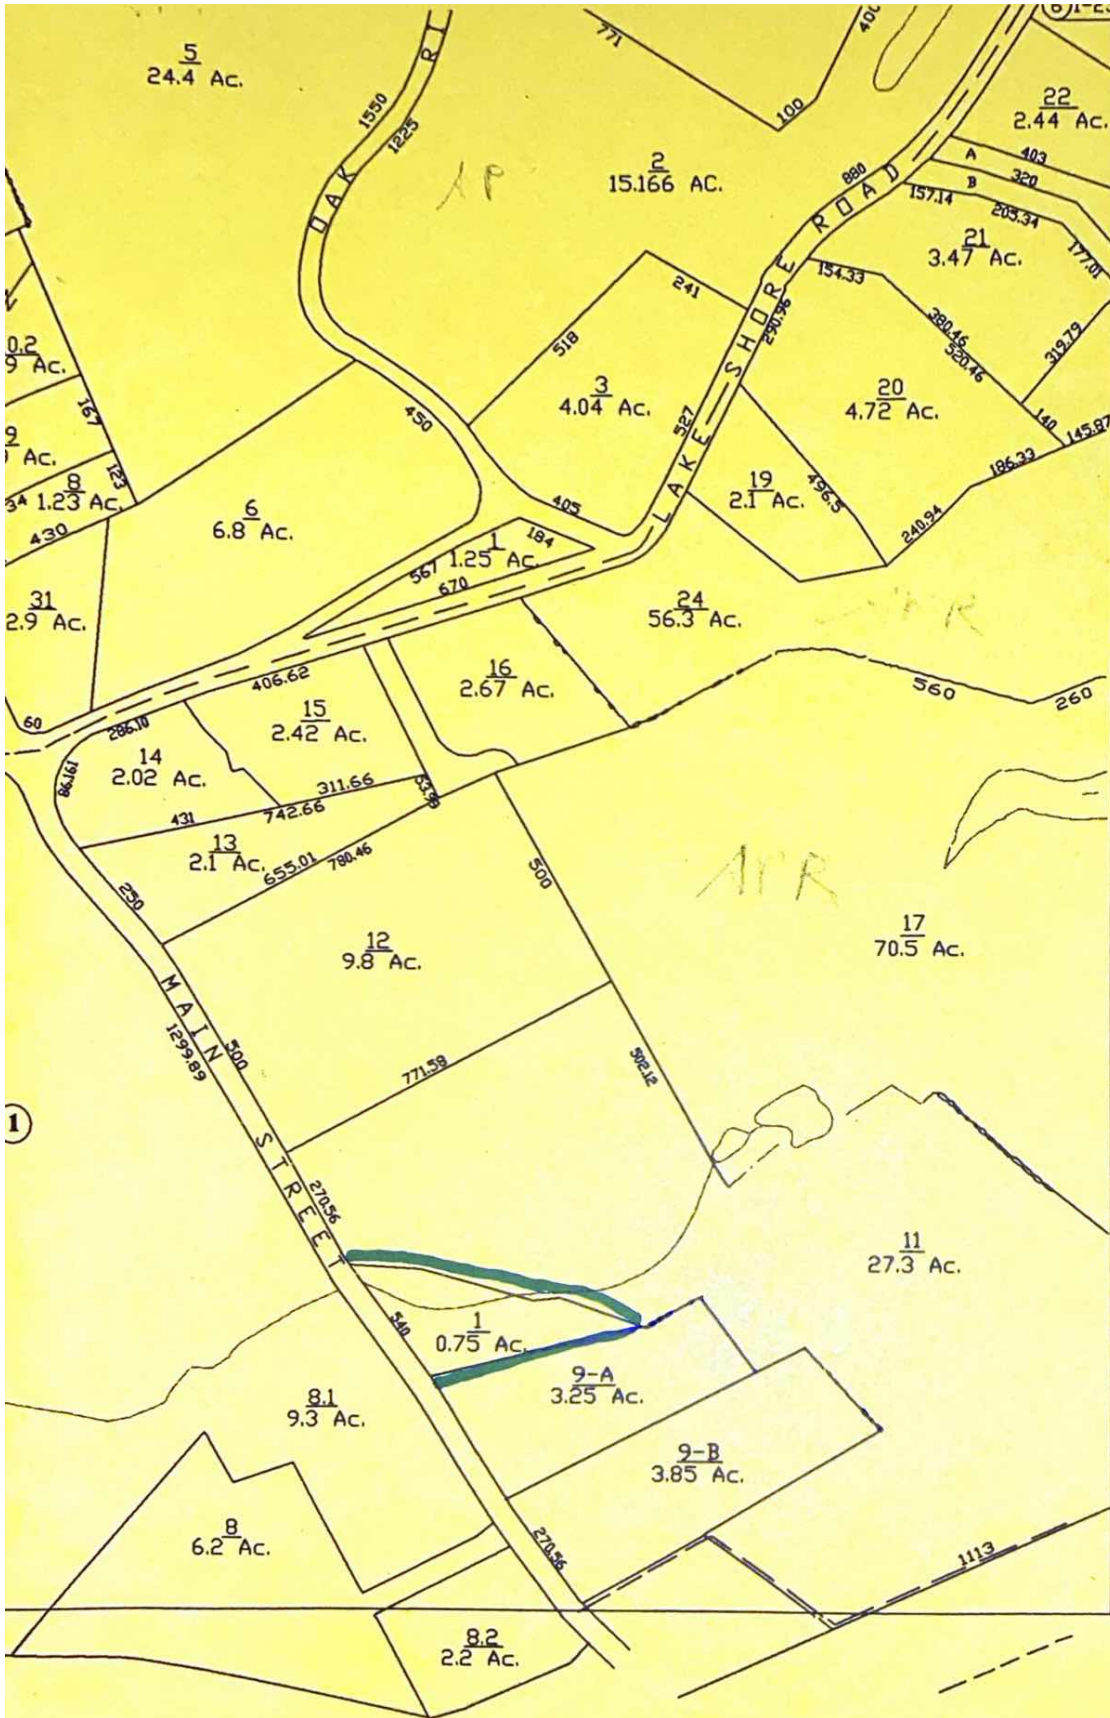

"The mill has not been run since Uncle Joshua's death I think"

Mill privilege was sold to John T. Chadwick, Sr. by Miss Day in 1945.
